

One year ago today...

Contributed by
Monday, 29 January 2007
Last Updated Monday, 14 January 2008

We posted:

When the conception of this site was first introduced, my good friend Garry Nutt suggested launching it on the late, great James Jamerson's birthday, January 29th. It was a perfect idea to celebrate the greatness of this revered player/genius who without a doubt, inspired thousands to play the electric bass. So at 9pm PST, 12:00am January 29th local time in Detroit, Michigan, Mr. Jamerson, the link for the forum will appear here, and we salute you with honor and praise, and may your soul continue to be the great inspiration to bassists globally forever.

Happy Birthday James Jamerson, and Happy Anniversary to BadAssBassPlayers.com